A FEW WORDS ABOUT SMALLPOX

HOW TO DEAL WITH THE DISEASE

The Detection and Treatment of What Is Observed As a Very Great Danger to Every Community.

The presence of smallpox in Newark on the west and Chrichsville on the east has attracted the attention of the state board of health to this section of Ohio, and the health officer of every community is being instructed regarding the steps to be taken should the loathsome disease appear. Health Officer Foster has received a circular letter sent out by the board, and desires that the principal part of its contents be made known to the people of Coshocton.

The board explains that smallpox has existed in Ohio continuously for five years, but of such character as to cause little uneasiness although over 900 cases and 124 deaths have been reported. "It behoves every community for financial, if no higher reasons to be prepared to enforce prompt, vigorous and intelligent measures to suppress the disease upon its first appearance," says the board.

"Smallpox, like fire is easily stamped out in its beginning," says the circular. The disease seldom spreads to any great extent, when reasonable precautions are taken, if first cases are promptly recognized. When masking under some other name for weeks, as has frequently happened of late, many persons are exposed and the disease becomes widely spread.

"The board of health should endeavor to have the confidence and co-operation of all physicians practicing within their jurisdiction, so as to secure an early report and investigation of all suspicious cases. Few physicians would wilfully attempt to conceal a case of smallpox. If it should be found, however, that any physician has wilfully neglected to report such a case, he should be at once prosecuted to the full extent of the law. But it frequently happens in this mild form of the disease that no physician is called to visit the patient. Or the physician may call the disease chickenpox, impetigo or contagious skin disease. Many of these cases have been called Cuban itch, elephant's itch, or anything but smallpox.

Whenever there is a suspicion that a case of smallpox exists, but which has not been reported, it is the duty of the board of health to promptly investigate it, whether there is an attending physician or not. If the health officer is a physician, familiar with smallpox, he should visit the patient, always inviting the attending physician to be present. The health officer should be authorized to employ one or more physicians, to inspect and report on doubtful cases. These reports should be in writing, and should be acted upon as official. When the attending physician reports the case as smallpox the board should usually accept his report without further investigation. The invariable rule should be to treat all suspected cases as smallpox until it can be shown they are not.

The business interests of a community are opposed to the diagnosis of smallpox, and there may be those who will insist upon a verification of the report of the attending physician. If deemed desirable, the board of health may appoint two skilled physicians to see the case with the attending physician, and it should act upon the majority report of the three.

"The state board of health is repeatedly called upon to make diagnosis in disputed cases. The calls for such investigations have been so frequent during the past two years that it was found impssible to answer them except by the appointment of medical inspectors to represent the board. A number of physicians in various parts of the state have been selected for this work with special reference to their experience and skill in the recognition of smallpox. As the appropriation of the board is entirely inadequate to meet the extraordinary expenses of such investigations, they must be borne by the communities having the direct benefit of such service.

"Having found a case of smallpox, what shall be done with it? The best plan is to at once remove the patient to a hospital. Only the larger cities have smallpox hospitals, however. Any isolated building, if suitably located, may be made to answer the purpose for one or a few cases. Such a building may be rented, or may be erected in short order. In time of great emergency an empty building, suitably located, may be seized and used as a hospital, damages to be settled with the owner later. In warm weather tents will admirably answer the purpose. Such hospitals are specially needful where a stranger is found with smallpox and has no place to go.

"In most instances smallpox patients will be treated in their homes. The board of health is morally if not legally, bound to use every necessary precaution to protect the public against danger from smallpox patients. As soon as a case or suspected case of smallpox is declared, or found, a quarantine notice should be served in writing upon the head of the family, or other person responsible, requiring all inmates of the house to remain in until further notice, and prohibiting other persons from entering the house. If the case is reported as smallpox the house should be placarded 'SMALLPOX WITHIN.' In suspected cases the card may be omitted until a positive diagnosis is made, but the quarantine must be maintained. If there are members of the household who have not had smallpox, or who have not been successfully vaccinated within a year, they should be held in quarantine 17 days from the time the house is disinfected. The quarantine for all other persons who have been exposed to smallpox, who are not protected by a previous attack of the disease, or by recent successful vaccination, should be 17 days from the time of the last exposure to the disease.

"When a family is quarantined for smallpox or other contagious disease the board of health is bound to secure for them all the necessaries of life including medical aid and nurses when necessary. The expenses incurred are to be paid by the family when able to do so; when not by the board of health. The same rule applies legally at least when property is destroyed, as in burning infected bedding, clothing, etc. It should always be considered, however, that such destruction of property is for the protection of the public and not specially for the benefit of the family. By rights all expenses incurred in dealing with smallpox if for the protection of the public, ought to be borne by the public. Boards of health should furnish to quarantined families everything required, and without delay, allowing the question of who is to pay to be settled afterwards.

"When death occurs from smallpox the body must be buried as soon as possible, and in all cases within 24 hours from time of death. The undertaker or others who are obliged to go into the house where the body is must be required to use all necessary precautions to prevent carrying the disease, such as a change of clothing (which should afterwards be disinfected) disinfecting the hands and beard, etc. The necessary pall bearers must also take proper precautions. The funeral and burial must be strictly private. Members of the family and others quarantined with them should take leave of the body at the house. The interior of the hearse or other vehicle used to transport the body, should be thoroughly washed, after the burial, with a disinfectant solution. All persons who are obliged to expose themselves to smallpox should be vaccinated before or immediately after such exposure."

WHEELER PLEADS FOR BULLETIN

"The publishers of the Bulletin went to the county commissioners in the courthouse Wednesday to ask that they publish their annual report in both THE AGE and the Bulletin and pay each paper half of the legal fee.

"Chairman Hay, of the Republican Executive committee, stated to the commissioners that it was only right that the printing be divided between the two Republican papers just as it is between the two Democratic papers."

—Coshocton Bulletin, Nov. 7.

This talk of "dividing" is certainly amusing, when it is taken into consideration that at that very meeting of the commissioners the Bulletin was drawing full pay for publishing the clerk of courts' two notices of "times for holding court," also full pay for publishing the election board notices which have been controlled the last three years by George A. Hay, W. M. Smith and James Glenn and always given to the Bulletin without dividing the pay. In short, they take full pay for what printing they can get, and want to take half of what THE AGE gets. They are like the boy who ate all of his own apple and wanted half of the other boy's apple. When the mask is torn off it is easy to understand the hypocrisy of their talk of "right" and "fairness" and "divide." It is simply another spasm of the disgraceful scramble for public pap, to which hungry desire they have subordinated everything else.

Prosecutor T. H. Wheeler appeared before the commissioners and made a pathetic plea to give the "official organ" the printing.

THE AGE did not accept the proposition to publish the commissioners' report at half price. We pay our bills at 100 cents on the dollar and do printing on the same basis.

CORN HUSKERS SCARCE.

The man who wants work need not be without it these days for farmers will employ all they can find at the customary rate of wages. Farmers are experiencing a great deal of trouble in finding men to husk their corn, and appeals to huskers who have done the work in recent years brings out the statement that they can make more money in Coshocton. As a result fields that are usually husked in October are as yet untouched.

NO CHANGE

Will Be Made in the Seventeenth District, Say the Political Writers.

The political writers who are grinding out a great deal of copy concerning the proposed gerrymander of the state by the next legislature seem to be a unit in the belief that no change will be made in the Seventeenth district. They can find no arrangement of adjacent counties by which a change would bring about the desired end.

MRS. MARTIN WAS HURT

And Other Members of the Family Were Bruised When the Team Ran Away.

When Joseph Martin and his family were driving into the lower part of Roscoe Sunday afternoon the team became frightened and ran away. They dashed up Main street and overturning the surrey threw out the occupants. Kicking themselves free from the wreck they continued their mad course until they were caught in the upper end of the village. Mrs. Martin received a cut on her face, and the other members of the family were bruised while the surrey was almost demolished.

The team, handsome white horses, are young and became frightened when a man in a buggy attempted to pass them. Martin, it is alleged, asked him to pass on the other side of the road, but he continued his course and the runaway resulted. Martin threatens to bring suit for damages.

THESE PEOPLE LOST MONEY.

One Empty Pocketbook Was Found-But The Other is Missing.

James Smalley, a miner living at Hardscrabble, dropped his pocketbook at Gamble's grocery store Saturday night. He discovered his loss later in the evening and returning to the store found, the pocketbook on the sidewalk. The $42 it had contained was gone, but two large copper pennies and some promissory notes had not been taken.

G. S. Hiser suffered a greater loss when he dropped his pocketbook containing $140. He lost it in Coshocton or between the city and the farm of O. F. Neldon.

THESE SWINDLERS

Have Caught Zanesville People As They Did Coshocton Folks.

Zanesville people who bit on the Masterpieces of the World and leather couch combination are receiving letters from the company in Chicago telling them to pay up, and some who have paid up are still waiting for premiums.

The Signal of Saturday says: "It is understood that a Zanesville man during a recent visit to Chicago made inquiry at one of the company and was informed that the company had authorized no such contract as was furnished by their agents in this city."

TWO GAMES

Have Been Arranged for the High School Football Team.

The high school football eleven will go to Cambridge next Saturday for a game with the high school of that place. Cambridge in turn will come here Thanksgiving, and a game will be played in the afternoon at Riverside park. The team is now in first-class condition, and the members are enthusiastic. Practice during the week will doubtless strengthen the eleven for the game Saturday.

THIRTY MEMBERS

Have Been Added to the Maccabees by Mrs. Miller, of Zanesville.

The lady Maccabees held an interesting meeting in their hall in the Forbes building Saturday evening. It was the last meeting at which Mrs Miller, of Zanesville, could be with the lodge. Mrs Miller is a deputy grand commander of the organization, and through her efforts over 30 members were added to the Coshocton lodge and a number of applications are yet to be acted on.

FIELDS AND WOODS

Attracted Many Coshocton Sportsmen Today.

The hunting season opened this morning, and a great many Coshocton sportsmen are in the fields and woods with guns and dogs. Game of all kinds is abundant, and the season, short as it is, will probably result in the death of a great many quail. Hunters from the cities came into the county on almost every train Sunday, and more are expected before the week is over. Coshocton has become a favorite shooting ground for Cleveland, Columbus and Pittsburg sportsmen.

Since the advent of smokeless powder the popular gun is a trifle heavier than heretofore leaning towards the "pump" repeater. If you happen to have business today with a known sportsman, don't be surprised if you should not find him at his accustomed post, but remember that he is one of the many who are burning powder in the woods this first of the seventeen days quail season.

The Main street paving was found to be in the best of condition, and crowbars and picks were used with vigor before the bricks were taken up.

HEALTH OF THE CITY.

It is Improving and Diphtheria is Disappearing.

Health Officer Foster's weekly report to the state board of health records the presence of six cases of diphtheria, three of scarlet fever, one of typhoid fever and one of chicken pox. The report is much better than customary at this season of the year with the exception of diphtheria which seems to be gradually disappearing. No deaths occurred last week.

FIRST MOV THE GLASS F

Pittsburg Manufacturer Met the Board of Trade.

SITE VISITED THIS AFTERNOON

Principal Parts of the Contract Settled on And The Result Depends Upon The Location of The Plant.

The project to build a big glass plant in Coshocton was given another boost today, and Greater Coshocton is closer than ever. It remains for the people to push along the best proposition that has ever been submitted to this city.

When the through train west on the Pan Handle, the one that only stops to put off officials of the company, reached the passenger station this morning it did not pass through as though Coshocton was a flag station, but it stopped for a moment. A well dressed gentleman with the bearing of a business man alighted and made his way to the office of Robert Boyd, secretary of the board of trade.

He is a representative of the Pittsburg glass manufacturing company that will build a plant to employ 350 men in Coshocton if the city will give a bonus of $18,000 and three or four acres of land. Mr. Boyd at once notified members of the board of his presence in the city and a meeting was held to discuss the details of the proposition. The principle points were gone over, and the visitor agreed with the board. The members of the board are unanimous in the desire to have the factory located here, and the company's representative soon found the two sides of the proposition could do business without difficulty.

The details of the meeting were not given out for publication as the project has not advanced to that stage where it can be numbered among the certainties, but the result of the negotiations now in progress will soon be known. Mr. Boyd took his visitor for a walk through Coshocton, and he expressed delight at what he saw. He is pleased with the city and its surroundings, and looks with favor on the plan to locate the factory here.

After dinner at the Elks club the gentlemen visited the land on which it is proposed to locate the factory, and if it suits the visitor it is probable the plant will be built in Coshocton. The railway facilities and the general location of the site are to be considered before he makes his decision.

The time has come when Coshocton can no longer stand at the parting of the ways. It must go forward to greater prosperity for everybody, or it must quietly drop back. This new factory will bring more blood and more money into the city, and every branch of business will be benefited. It is the duty of everybody to encourage the board and urge them on to success.

As yet no canvass has been made regarding the sale of lots, but the board are encouraged by the attitude of the people. Many persons have volunteered their aid and will stand by the board. If you haven't decided to do it think the matter over and if you are public spirited and want to see Coshocton grow you will not hesitate.

DROWNED IN THE PHILIPPINES

Lieutenant Robert Crawford Meets Death in Samar.

Readers of THE AGE noticed in Friday's issue that Lieutenant Robert Crawford and five men of the First infantry had been drowned in Samar.

Lieutenant Crawford was the son of Robert Crawford, now of Independence, Iowa, but formerly of Ke township. His mother was M non, and John P. Shannon, of was his uncle. peka, Kan., Nov. 11 — Sheriff Cook of this county and Deputy Sheriff Williams were captured by two escaped convicts from the Fort Leavenworth military prison at Pauline, five miles south of Topeka, and held prisoners in the farmhouse of a man named Wooster for several hours. They finally escaped between a line of police sent from Topeka to reinforce the sheriff. Both were slightly wounded. Wooster was badly wounded by one of the convicts when he tried to fire on them. Mrs. Wooster and Sheriff Cook were held before the convicts as a shield by the prisoners in making their escape. A posse is in pursuit.

Farmer boys near Pauline learned that the escaped convicts were in the neighborhood. Hastily forming a posse, armed with target rifles, pistols and clubs, they gave chase. Neither of the convicts was armed, and they were unable to make a stand. Later Sheriff Cook and Deputy Williams arrived. Coming upon the convicts both officers fired, wounding the men but not disabling them. The convicts then fled through a small opening in the timber and ran into the house of Farmer Wooster. Sheriff Cook telegraphed to Topeka for assistance and then took up the chase. Thinking the convicts had run around the house, Cook darted through the open door, intending to surprise them at the rear door. But instead of this the convicts had gone into the house and the officer almost fell into their arms. Sheriff Cook was ordered to give up his gun, which he did. Deputy Wiliams by this time had reached the house and entered without knowing what had happened inside, and he, too, was made captive by the convicts. In the meantime Chief Stahl of Topeka with eight officers were on their way. They arrived at the Wooster house about an hour after the officers had been imprisoned. Chief Stahl immediately began negotiations with the convicts to give up their prisoners and to surrender themselves, but the convicts only laughed. Farmer Wooster then managed to get a gun and was about to make an

One of the convicts told Sheriff Cook that he would be killed if he made the slightest move toward their capture. In the meantime the police officers on the outside had surrounded the building, but were afraid to make a move for fear that Cook and Williams would suffer. Mrs. Wooster had fainted during the excitement. She finally revived, and then the bold convicts placed the woman and Sheriff Cook in front of them as shields and made for the door.

Then, after exacting a promise from the sheriff that he would not permit any of the officers outside to fire on them, they started for the open. As they left the house, the frightened farmer's wife and the submissive sheriff before them, the convicts passed between a cordon of police, who could have easily captured them, and started for the railroad track. The sheriff had in turn exacted a promise from the police that they would not molest the convicts, and they did not.

After covering a considerable distance down the track the convicts suddenly disappeared through a hedge fence, bidding the officers a mocking farewell. The convicts had secured a good start before the officers had recovered from their surprise. Then some of the policemen wanted to pursue, but Sheriff Cook would not permit it, as he had promised the convicts immunity from arrest. Later a posse started in pursuit.

Caused Excitement.

Willemstad Island of Curacoa, Nov. 11.—Advices received here from Capacho Viejo say that the report from President Castro to his brother, Celestino Castro, at San Cristobal, to the effect that the United States government "insists upon mediating between Venezuela and Colombia," caused the greatest excitement among the troops on the frontier. General Uribe Uribe and General Modesto Castro immediately set out for San Cristobal to obtain details. It seems that General Uribe Uribe refused to believe the report, declaring that he had no fears as to the future of the liberal cause, because President Castro had given him a cast-iron pledge not to forsake him. "Should President Castro prove untrue to the liberal cause," exclaimed General Uribe Uribe, "the result would be his ruin. The war will enter Colombia before Christmas."

Kitchener's Scheme.

Cape Town, Nov. 11.—Lord Kitchener and Sir John Gordon Sprigg (the Cape premier) have arranged a scheme for the expulsion of the invaders from Cape Colony. A joint commission of imperial and colonial military chiefs has been sitting here for some days past to draft a scheme. It is understood that this provides for the colony taking a large share in the future campaign and contributing largely toward its cost. Apparently a levy of loyalists en masse is the idea involved.

BIG ROLL STOLEN.

Pansacola, Fla., Nov. 11.—Paymaster Stevens of the United States army arrived in this place from Atlanta, and before leaving that city placed in a hand satchel 200 silver dollars and $4,800 in paper money for the purpose of paying the several hundred artillerymen at Fort Barancas and McRea their salaries for the past month. When he reached the fort here he opened his grip and found all the paper money had been abstracted. Paymaster Stevens thinks some professional pickpockets followed him and relieved him during the trip. He can not recall a single incident of the trip that would lead to anything on the robbery, but has an idea the money was taken before he left Atlanta.

The New Star.

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 11.—W. W. Campbell of the Lick observatory has issued a bulletin regarding a recent and somewhat important discovery made by Profesor Perrino, an attache of the observatory, on Mount Hamilton, in reference to the new star in the constellation Perseus. This star appeared suddenly and unexpectedly last February, having been discovered by Anderson in Edingburgh. In some four days its brightness increased from invisibility in ordinary telescopes until it became the brightest star in the northern sky. The star's atmosphere was violently disturbed, as shown by a study of its spectrum in the spring months, and since June at least the spectroscope has shown that it is now a nebula, though retaining to the eye and in the telescope the point-like form of an ordinary star.

Jeffries-Ruhlin Bout.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Both Jeffries and Ruhlin are ready for the gong to sound Friday night. They are doing light work in the gymnasium and on the road to keep in condition. Delaney and Madden have had a conference with Referee Harry Corbett over the rules that will govern the fight. It has been agreed that the men in a clinch shall break away at the order of the referee, and that they shall protect themselves in getting away. The referee, however, will interpret the rules so that the contest will not develop into a hugging match. The fight will be preceded by two four-round preliminaries between local fighters. It is planned to bring the big men into the ring at 9:15 p. m. The betting is light yet, but Ruhlin seems to be gaining slightly in favor and has some backing at 2 to 1.

General Hamilton's Mission.

London, Nov. 11. — Major General Ian Hamilton, who sailed Saturday for South Africa to act as Lord Kitchener's chief of staff, takes a plan prepared in London for a more vigorous campaign, with a view of ending the war before the coronation festivities begin. "General Hamilton's appointment," says The Daily News, "is part of a plan arranged after the king's return from the continent about six weeks ago. Unless Lord Kitchener should decline to be complaisant, the new scheme is likely to develop about the beginning of the year."

Dangerous Fire.

Newcastle, Pa., Nov. 11.—The plant of the Lawrence Ice and Storage company was completely gutted by fire. The damage amounts to fully $150,000. The plant was only completed and operations begun this fall, and all the expensive machinery was destroyed, only the bare walls being left standing. More than 28,000 pounds of ammonia was stored in the plant, and the fears of explosion hindered the firemen. The fire started in the oil room and the watchman tried to fight the blaze alone until too late.

Boy's Pastime.

Devil's Lake, N. D., Nov. 11.—The 6-year-old son of William Barber of Crary, stationed at the window of his home, with a shotgun shot Burt Crary, a 12-year-old boy who was passing by, through the apex of the right lung, and it is feared that the boy will die. The Barber boy, who had just previously shot at Miles Miller, whom he missed, seemed to think he was having a good time and did not realize the gravity of his act.

First McKinley Monument.

Tower, Minn., Nov. 11.—To this village belongs the honor of having erected the first monument in honor of William McKinley. Thousands of people from all over the state and the entire northwest were on hand at the unveiling. When the monument was unveiled all the bands that Tower and surrounding country could muster played together "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The chief speaker was Governor Van Sant.

Coal and Coke Works Damaged.

Pittsburg, Nov. 11.—The fire at the works of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company at Six Mile ferry was less disastrous than at first reported. When the flames were finally subdued it was found that enough of the works had been saved to reduce the loss from $100,000, as expected, to $25,000. Five hundred men will be thrown out of employment until the tipple is rebuilt.

Decided by Lot.

Maysville, Ky., Nov. 11.—The vote for police judge at Dover was a tie between Editor Stairs of The News and Editor Curran of The Messenger. The contest was decided by lot, and Curran got the office on the first draw.

A Prince Spilled.

Talmage Sermon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage depicts the struggle of a man who desires liberation from the enthrallment of evil and shows how he may be set free; text, Proverbs xxiii, 35: "When shall I awake? I will seek it yet again."

With an insight into human nature such as no other man ever had Solomon in these words is sketching the mental processes of a man who has stepped aside from the path of rectitude and would like to return. Wishing for something better, he says: "When shall I awake? When shall I get over this horrible nightmare of iniquity?" But, seized upon by uneradicated appetite and pushed down hill by his passions, he cries out: "I will seek it yet again. I will try it once more!"

About a mile from Princeton, N. J., there is a skating pond. One winter day, when the ice was very thin, a farmer living near by warned the young men of the danger of skating at that time. They all took the warning except one young man. He, in the spirit of bravado, said, "Boys, one round more." He struck out on his skates, the ice broke, and his lifeless body was brought up. And in all matters of temptation and allurement it is not a prolongation that is proposed, but only just one more indulgence, just one more sin. Then comes the fatality. Alas, for the one round more! "I will seek it yet again."

Our libraries are adorned with elegant literature addressed to young men pointing out to them all the dangers and perils of life—complete maps of the voyage of life—the shoals, the rocks, the quicksands. But suppose a young man is already shipwrecked, suppose he is already off the track, suppose he has already gone astray, how can he get back? That is a question that remains unanswered, and amid all the books of the libraries I find not one word on that subject. To that class of persons I this day address myself.

You compare what you are now with what you were three or four years ago, and you are greatly disheartened. You are ready with every passion of your soul to listen to a discussion like this. Be of good cheer! Your best days are yet to come. I offer you the hand of welcome and rescue. I put the silver trumpet of the gospel to my lips and blow one long, loud blast, saying, "Whosoever will, let him come, and let him come now." The church of God is ready to spread a banquet upon your return, and all the hierarchs of heaven fall into line of bannered procession over your redemption.

Years ago, and while yet Albert Barnes was living, I preached in his pulpit one night to the young men of Philadelphia. In the opening of my discourse I said, "O Lord, give me one soul tonight!" At the close of the service Mr. Barnes introduced a young man, saying, "This is the young man you prayed for." But I see now it was a too limited prayer. I offer no such prayer today. It must take in a wider sweep. "Lord, give us all these souls today for happiness and heaven."

Surmounting Obstacles.

So far as God may help me I propose to show what are the obstacles to your return and then how you are to surmount those obstacles. The first difficulty in the way of your return is the force of moral gravitation. Just as there is a natural law which brings down to earth anything you throw into the air, so there is a corresponding moral gravitation. I never shall forget a prayer I heard a young man make in the Young Men's Christian Association of New York. With trembling voice and streaming eyes he said: "O God, thou knowest how easy it is for me to do wrong and how hard it is for me to do right! God help me!" That man knows not his own heart who has never felt the power of moral gravitation.

In your boyhood you had good associates and bad associates. Which most impressed you? During the last few years you have heard pure anecdotes and impure anecdotes. Which the easiest stuck to your memory? You have bad good habits and bad habits. To which did your soul more easily yield? But that moral gravitation may be resisted. Just as you may pick up anything from the earth and hold it in your hand toward heaven, just so, by the power of God's grace, a fallen soul may be lifted toward peace, toward pardon, toward salvation. The force of moral gravitation is in every one of us, but also power in God's grace to overcome that force.

The next thing in the way of your return is the power of evil habit. I know there are those who say it is very easy for them to give up evil habits. I cannot believe them. Here is a man given to intoxication, who knows it is disgracing his family, destroying his property and ruining him—body, mind and soul. If that man, being an intelligent man and loving his family, could easily give up that habit, would he not do so? The fact that he does not give it up proves that it is hard to give it up. It is a very easy thing to sail down stream, the tide carrying you with great force; but suppose you turn the boat up stream, is it so easy then to row it? As long as we yield to the evil inclinations in our heart and to our bad habits we are sailing down stream, but the moment we try to return we put our boat in the rapids just above Niagara and try to row up stream.

Slavery to Habit.

A physician tells his patient that he must quit the use of tobacco, as it is destroying his health. The man replies, "I can stop that habit easy enough." He quits the use of the weed. He goes around not knowing what to do with himself. He cannot add up a column of figures; he cannot sleep nights. It seems as if the world had turned upside down. He feels his business is going to ruin. Where he was kind and obliging he is scolding and fretful. The composure that characterized him has given way to a fretful restlessness, and he has become a complete fidget. What power is it that has rolled a wave of woe over the earth and shaken a portent in the heavens? He has quit tobacco. After awhile he says: "I am going to do as I please. The doctor does not understand my case. I am going back to my old habits." And he returns. Everything assumes its usual composure. His business seems to brighten. The world becomes an attractive place to live in. His children, seeing the difference, hail the return of their father's genial disposition. What wave of color has dashed into the sky, and greenness into the mountain foliage, and the glow of sapphire into the stream? What enchantment has lifted a world of beauty and joy on his soul? He has resumed tobacco.

The fact is, we all know in our own experience that habit is a taskmaster. As long as we obey it it does not chastise us; but let us resist, and we find that we are lashed with scorpion whips and bound with ship cable and thrown into the track of bone breaking Juggernauts.

Suppose a man of five or ten or twenty years of evil doing resolves to do right, why are all the forces of darkness allied against him? He gets down on his knees in the midnight and cries, "God help me!" He bites his lip. He grinds his teeth. He clinches his fist in a determination to keep to his purpose. He dare not look at the bottles in the window of a wine store. It is one long, bitter, exhaustive, hand to hand fight with inflamed, tantalizing, merciless habit. When he thinks he is entirely free, the old inclination pounces upon him like a pack of hounds, with their muzzles tearing away at the flanks of one poor reindeer.

In Paris there is a sculptured representation of Bacchus, the god of revelry. He is riding on a panther at full leap. Oh, how suggestive! Let every one who is speeding on bad ways understand he is not riding a docile and well broken steed, but that he is riding a monster wild and bloodthirsty and going at a death leap.

I have also to say if a man wants to return from evil practices society repulses him. The prodigal, wishing to return, tries to take some professor of religion by the hand. The professor of religion looks at him, looks at the faded apparel and the marks of dissipation, and instead of giving him a firm grip of the hand offers him the tip end of the longer fingers of the left hand, which is equal to striking a man in the face. Oh, how few Christian people understand how much gospel there is in a good, honest handshaking! Sometimes when you have felt the need of encouragement and some Christian man has taken you heartily by the hand, have you not felt thrilling through every fiber of your body, mind and soul an encouragement that was just what you needed?

The Prodigal's Return.

The prodigal, wishing to get into good society, enters a prayer meeting. Some good man without much sense greets him by saying: "Why, are you here? You are about the last person that I expected to see in a prayer meeting. Well, the dying thief was saved, and there is hope for you." You do not know anything about this unless you have learned that when a man tries to return from evil courses of conduct he runs against repulsions innumerable.

We say of some man, "He lives a block or two from the church, or half a mile from the church." In all our great cities there are men who are 5,000 miles from church—vast deserts of indifference between them and the house of God. The fact is we must keep our respectability though thousands perish. Christ sat with publicans and sinners, but if there come to the house of God a man with marks of dissipation upon him people are almost sure to put up their hands in horror, as much as to say, "Is it not shocking?"

How these dainty, fastidious Christians in all our churches are going to get into heaven I do not know, unless they have an especial train of cars cushioned and upholstered, each one a car to himself. They cannot go with the great herd of publicans and sinners. Oh, ye who curl your lip of scorn on the fallen! I tell you plainly that if you had been surrounded by the same influences instead of sitting today among the cultured, and the refined, and the Christian you might have been a crouching wretch in stable or ditch covered with filth and abomination. It is not because we are naturally any better, but because the mercy of God has protected us. Those that are brought up in Christian circles and watched by Christian parentage should not be so hard on the fallen.

I think, also, that men are often hindered from returning by the fact that churches are anxious about their membership, too anxious about their denomination, and they rush out when they see a man about to give up sin and return to God and ask him how he is going to be baptized—whether by sprinkling or immersion—and what kind of a church he is going to join. It is a poor time to talk about Presbyterian catechism and Episcopal liturgies and Methodist love feasts and Baptist immersions when a man is about to come out of the darkness of sin into the glorious light of the gospel.

First Get Ashore.

Why, it reminds me of a man drowning in the sea, and a lifeboat puts out for him, and the man in the boat says to the man in the water, "Now, if I get you ashore, are you going to live in my street?" First get him ashore, and then talk to him about the nonessentials of religion. Who cares what church he joins if he only joins Christ and starts for heaven? Oh, you, my brother of illumined face and a hearty grip for every one that tries to turn from his evil way, take hold of the same hymn book with him, though his dissipation shake the book, remembering that he that converteth a sinner from the error of his ways shall save a soul from death and hide a multitude of sins."

Now, I have shown you these obstacles because I want you to understand I know all the difficulties in the way. But I am now going to tell you how Hannibal may scale the Alps and how the shackles may be unriveted and how the [illegible] all the resources of [illegible] love, to give it to you. [illegible] with a [illegible] call prayer [illegible] and cry [illegible].

I remember that in the civil war I was at Antietam, with other members of the Christian commission, to look after the wounded. I [illegible] the battle, and I said [illegible] anybody here?" He [illegible] held up his arm [illegible] I saw where he was [illegible] all he has to do is [illegible] sympathize [illegible]. It does not take any [illegible] just hold up the wound. It is no small thing when a man is nervous and weak and exhausted, coming from his evil ways, to feel that God puts two omnipotent arms about him and says:

"Young man, I will stand by you. The mountains may depart and the hills be removed, but I will never fail you." And then, as the soul thinks the news is too good to be true and cannot believe it and looks up in God's face, God lifts his right hand and takes an affidavit, makes an oath, saying, "As I live," saith the Lord God, "I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked." Blessed be God for such gospel as this! "Cut the slices thin," says the wife to the husband, "for there will not be enough to go around for all the children. Cut the slices thin." Blessed be God, there is a full loaf for every one that wants it. Bread and enough to spare! No thin slices on the Lord's table!

Healing Balm For Wounds.

I remember that while living in Philadelphia, at the time I spoke of a minute ago, the Master Street hospital was opened, and a telegram was received, saying: "There will be 300 wounded men tonight. Please take care of them." From my church there went out twenty or thirty men and women. As the poor wounded men were brought in no one asked them from what state they came or what was their parentage. There was a wounded soldier, and the only question was how to take off the rags most gently and put on the cool bandage and administer the cordial. And when a soul comes to God he does not ask where you came from or what your ancestry was. Healing balm for all your wounds; pardon for all your guilt; comfort for all your troubles!

Then, also, I counsel you, if you want to get back, quit all your bad associates. One unholy intimacy will fill your soul with moral distemper. In all the ages of the church there has not been an instance where a man kept one evil associate and was reformed—among the 1,600,000,000 of the race, not one instance. Give up your bad companions or give up heaven. It is not ten bad companions that destroy a man nor five bad companions nor three, but one.

What chance is there for the young man I saw along the street, four or five young men with him, in front of a grogshop, urging him to go in, he resisting, violently resisting, until after awhile they forced him to go in? It was a summer night, and the door was left open, and I saw the process. They held him fast, and they put the cup to his lips, and they forced down the strong drink. What chance is there for such a young man?

I counsel you also to seek Christian advice. Every Christian man is bound to help you. If he declines to help you, he is not a Christian. Now gather up all your energies of body, mind and soul and, appealing to God for success, declare this day everlasting war against all evil influences. A half and half work will amount to nothing; it must be a Waterloo. Shrink back now and you are lost. Push on and you are saved. A Spartan general fell at the very moment of victory, but he dipped his finger in his own blood and wrote on a rock near which he was dying, "Sparta has conquered." Though your struggle to get rid of sin may seem to be almost a death struggle, you can dip your finger in your own blood and write on the Rock of Ages, "Victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Surrendering to God.

Some of you, like myself, were born in the country. And what glorious news might these young men send home to their parents that this afternoon they had surrendered themselves to God and started a new life! I know how it is in the country. The night comes on. The cattle stand under the rack, through which burst the trusses of hay. The horses have just frisked up from the meadow brook at the nightfall and stand knee deep in the bright straw that invites them to lie down and rest. The perch of the hovel is full of fowl, their feet warm under their feathers. When the nights get cold, the flames clap their hands above the great backlog and shake the shadow of the group up and down the wall. Father and mother sit there for half an hour saying nothing. I wonder what they are thinking of? After awhile the father breaks the silence and says, "Well, I wonder where our boy is in town tonight?" And the mother answers: "In no bad place, I warrant you. We always could trust him when he was at home, and since he has been away there have been so many prayers offered for him we can trust him still." Then at 8 or 9 o'clock, just before they retire, for they go early to bed, they kneel down and commend you to that God who watches in country and in town, on the land and on the sea.

Some one said to a Grecian general, "What was the proudest moment of your life?" He thought a moment and said, "The proudest moment was when I sent word home to my parents that I had gained the victory." And the gladdest and most brilliant moment in your life will be the moment when you can send word to your parents that you have conquered the evil habits by the grace of God and become eternal victor.

Oh, despise not parental anxiety! The time will come when you will have neither father nor mother, and you will go around the place where they used to watch you and find them gone from the house and gone from the field and gone from the neighborhood. Cry as loud for forgiveness as you may over the mound in the church yard, they cannot answer. Dead! Dead! And then you will take out the white lock of hair that was cut from your mother's brow just before they buried her, and you will take the cane with which your father used to walk, and you will think and think and wish that you had done just as they wanted you and would give the world if you had never thrust a pang through their dear old hearts.

Honor to Parents.

God pity the young man who has brought dishonor on his father's name! God pity the young man who has broken his mother's heart! Better that he had never been born. Better if in the first hour of his life, instead of being laid against the warm bosom of maternal tenderness, he had been coffined and sepulchered. There is no balm powerful enough to heal the heart of one who has brought parents to a sorrowful grave and who wanders about through the dismal cemetery rending the air and wringing his hands and crying, "Mother, mother!" Oh, that today, by all the memories of the past and by all the hopes of the future, you would yield your heart to God! May your father's God and your mother's God be your God forever!

This hour the door of mercy swings wide open. It shuts in a moment. In many a case hesitation is the loss of all. At the corner of a street I saw a tragedy. A young man evidently doubted as to which direction he had better take. His hat was tilted high enough so you could see he had an intelligent forehead. He had a

PORTUGUESE GUNBOAT

London, Nov. 11.—The Exchange Telegraph company has received a dispatch from Lisbon announcing that a Portuguese gunboat has seized the American schooners Nettie and Lottie at Horta, island of Fayal for clandestinely conveying 26 emigrants who were trying to avoid military service.

Disaster on a Warship.

Athens, Nov. 11.—A terrible gun accident occurred on board the British battleship Royal Sovereign, outside of Astoko harbor. An artilleryman forgot to close the breech before the gun was fired. One officer and six artillerymen were killed outright, the bodies being terribly mutilated, and the captain and 13 sailors were seriously injured.

Postoffice Entered.

Somerset, Ky., Nov. 11. — Robbers forced an entrance into the postoffice at Burnside, nine miles south of this place. The safe, containing $500 in cash and stamps, was shattered with dynamite. Alfred Roberts, who was rooming over the office, was awakened by the explosion, and at once opened fire on the burglars with a winchester rifle. They escaped uninjured and left their booty scattered on the floor.

Thrown From His Horse.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Nov. 11.—Lewis W. Young, a wealthy stock owner, came to his death in a very peculiar manner. He went hunting and later his body was found in a creek. He was 81 years old, and the supposition is that in watering his horse the animal became frightened and threw him into the pond. Young was feeble, and the additional weight of his overcoat prevented him reaching the bank.

Spanish Election Riots.

Barcelona, Nov. 11.—The municipal elections here were attended by bloodshed and excitement. Revolver shots were exchanged and one person was killed and 40 others wounded. The municipal elections throughout Spain have resulted in a large majority for the supporters of the government. Disorder is expected at Bilbao.

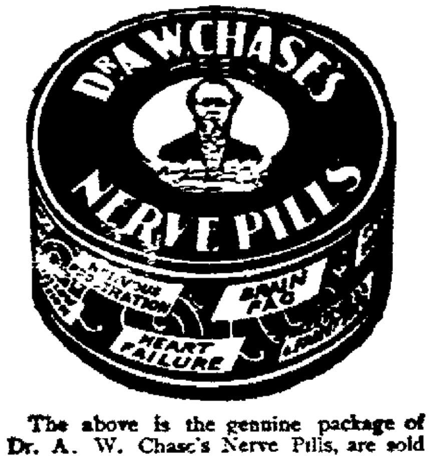
Nerve Slavery

It is present-day conditions—heaping burdens of work upon the nervous system that tells the story—premature breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Throbbing, palpitating heart.
Sleepless nights.
Sudden startings.
Morning languor.
Brain fag.
Inability to work or think.
Exhaustion on exertion.
Flagging appetite.
Digestion slow.
Food heavy.
Easily excited, nervous, irritable.
Strength fails.
Loss of flesh and muscular power.
Settled melancholia.



The above is the genuine package of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, are sold by dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

OHIO RETURNS.

Very Light Vote Was Cast, the Democrats Getting the Short End.

Cincinnati, Nov. 11. — With almost half of the official returns from the 88 counties in Ohio received, it is estimated that the total vote may be 100,000 less than for governor two years ago, when 920,872 votes were cast, and almost a quarter of a million less than for president last year, when the total vote of Ohio was 1,049,121. Notwithstanding the increase in population during the past 13 years, the total vote will likely be much less than for president in 1888, when it was 841,941, and probably less than has been cast for governor since that time, with a single exception. The returns show that the greatest shortage was among the Democrats outside of the cities, and it is still variously attributed to the silver question, prevailing prosperity, the death of McKinley, indorsement of President Roosevelt, Governor Nash and Senator Foraker and other causes.

Ohio Sportsman Killed.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 11.—W. C. Tucky of Collinwood, O., the sportsman who was killed at Lily Bay, near Greenville, by J. C. Hostatler of Toledo, O., met death in a most peculiar manner. The two men left camp and soon struck a deer trail. In half an hour a deer appeared. Hostatler lifted his rifle and fired. The bullet struck the deer, but glanced off and went through Tucky's head, killing him instantly.

Ohio Man's Confession.

St. Louis, Nov. 11.—John Callahan, who was arrested in the Union iron foundry after an attempt to hold up the night watchman, Michael Henneberger, has confessed to Chief of Detectives Desmond that he was one of the three men who robbed a bank at Turon, Reno county, Kan., in October, 1899. Callahan says his home is in Cleveland.

Freight House Consumed.

Cincinnati, Nov. 11.—The shipping freight shed of the Kentucky Central division of the Louisville and Nashville railway and the freight house of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway at Third and Rose street, together with many freight cars and contents, were burned. Loss over $100,000.

Fired to Frighten.

Wilmington, O., Nov. 11.—John Pennington, while under arrest on the charge of larceny, attempted to escape. Marshal Sliker fired at the ground to frighten Pennington but the bullet glanced and struck the man in the head, killing him instantly.

Killed His Critic.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 11. — John Brown, a negro Democrat, went into a saloon, and when a bunch of negro Republicans referred to him sneeringly as one of them "nigger Democrats," he walked out on the street and one of his critics followed. Jim Murray was the follower. Brown pulled out a revolver and fatally shot Murray.

Mr H. H. Black, the well-known village blacksmith at Grahamsville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attack been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicine, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucus and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symtoms appear we have found that the dreaded croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by C. E. Anderson.

Big Contract Awarded.

Havana, Nov. 11 — The municipal council of Havana has decided, by a vote of 10 to 8, to accept the bid of S. P. McGivney and R. T. Rockeby of Jersey City, which is $10,393,015.99, for the Havana sewering and paving contract. Considerable feeling was manifested during the session over the circulation of a pamphlet insinuating that the McGivney-Rockeby bid was really the bid of the engineer's department.

Fountain Items.

Electric Seal Jackets.

We have a few choice styles of these beautiful fur garments on exhibition. They are pretty, stylish, and, considering the service you get from them, very cheap. We should be glad to have you see the line. They will be here a few days.

It is a difficult matter to keep wrap and suit stocks unbroken now. The oldest wrap houses say they have never seen such a season as this By working double time they are utterly unable to keep up with the demand.

Our lines for this week are in good shape and as the cooler weather is here we anticipate a great week on WRAP FLOOR.

Furs.

We have already sold as many pieces of fur as we sold all last season. Have never known such a FUR season. Scarfs of various lengths prevail—though storm collars have their admirers also. This is essentially a fur year, but the chief reason for our enormous sales on these goods is the fact that we are selling them for less money than any maker of our garments would furnish them to us today. Our furs were bought in June and on same basis as though we bought 10,000 pieces ourselves.

It makes a saving to you of about 1-4 to 1-3 in the price of your furs. A little comparison is all that's necessary to confirm this.

Silk Skirts

We have opened a line of fine tailored silk skirts—combinations of silks, velvets and broadcloths—which you never see outside large city stores. We are glad to say Coshocton ladies appreciate them very much.

First time you are in the store ask to see them.

They are very pretty and withal quite moderate in price.
